

SEVENTH DAY ADVENTIST ARTS & SCIENCE COLLEGE

(Affiliated to Gujarat University)

NSS CAMP 2024-25

The Seventh Day Adventist College held its annual National Service Scheme (NSS) camp from February 3 to February 9, 2024, in Kanjipura Taluka of Kheda district, Gujarat. The camp aimed to foster community engagement, promote social responsibility, and instil values of service among the participants.

Highlights

Community Outreach: Participants engaged in various community outreach programs, including Sanitation drives, environmental awareness drives, and educational initiatives. These activities aimed to address local needs and contribute positively to the development of the region.

Environmental Initiatives: As part of the camp, participants undertook environmental conservation efforts such as tree plantation drives, waste management awareness programs, and cleanliness campaigns. These initiatives aimed to raise awareness about environmental issues and encourage sustainable practices.

Educational Programs: The NSS camp included educational programs aimed at empowering local residents through knowledge sharing. Sessions on topics such as literacy, vocational skills, and digital literacy were conducted to enhance the educational opportunities available to the community.

Impact Assessment: Throughout the camp, efforts were made to assess the impact of various initiatives on the community. Feedback from local residents, as well as quantitative data on the number of beneficiaries reached and the outcomes achieved, were collected to evaluate the effectiveness of the programs.

Overall, the Seventh Day Adventist College NSS camp 2024-25 was a resounding success, bringing together students, faculty, and community members to work towards the common goal of social upliftment and development. Through their collective efforts, participants made a tangible difference in the lives of the people
